STILL IT DRAGS.

Judge Porter Continues his Argument amid Objections.

Associated Press Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Judge Porter continued his argument, but between frequent interruptions and contradictions by Guitau and objections raised by Scoville, counsel progressed quite slowly. As soon as the Court opened Judge Porter was about to resume his speech when the prisoner foretold him and called out from the dock, "I desire to say some crank has signed my name to a letter that appeared in a paper this morning. It was without my authority and

I REPUDE IT.
I also want to say in regard to a couple of cranks I understand have been arrested for hanging around here. If they undertake to harm me they will be shot down. I want every one to understand this," Judge Porter, who had paused to permit this preliminary announcement, began by saying "the prisoner, as usual, has made his opening speech." After thanking the Court and jury for their consideration yesterday, which had made it possible for him to appear before them to-day, Judge Porter resumed his argument.

JUDGE PORTER.
Resumed his argument yesterday up to the hour of adjournment. The Court adjourned until this morning.

"IT."
Should the jury find Giteau guilty he will probably hang within sixty days.

NOT CONCLUDED.
At quarter past three, Judge Porter not having concluded his argument, the Court adjourned until to-morrow morning.

PLEADED GUILTY.
John Gales, before Judge Smith to-day, pleaded guilty to the murder of Haesler, a farmer near Vanston. The Judge remarked that the sentence would be hanging or penitentiary for life, but reserved his decision until all the evidence was written up.

A BAD WOMAN.

A Negro Woman Stabs a Man to the Heart in a Den.

LITTLE ROCK, January 24.—A bloody tragedy occurred yesterday evening in a negro drinking den, resulting in the death of John Hill, aged 21 years, at the hands of Mollie Leggan. It seems that the woman entered the saloon and inquired for the proprietor. Deceased made some remarks at which she took offense and she started at him with a knife. He ran around the billiard table three or four times, and finding he could not avoid her he snatched a billiard cue and

Over the head. Recovering from the effects of the blow, she rushed upon him with the knife and before he could release himself from her grasp she plunged the knife into his heart and he fell dead at her feet. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts. The murderer was arrested and is now in jail.

TOMBSTONE TIDINGS.

The Earp Party Ride Out of Tombstone Followed by Cowboys.

A Mortal Combat Imminent—Both Parties Armed with Winchesters and Shot Guns—Speculations.

Associated Press Dispatches.

TUCSON, January 24.—The Tombstone Nugget publishes the following: There was considerable excitement on the streets yesterday occasioned by the departure from town of Wyatt, Morgan, Earp, Doc Holliday, Texas Jack, and three of their retainers whose names we did not learn. They rode up Allen street going East while the sidewalks were crowded with throngs of citizens speculating upon their probable destination. Each horseman was

ARMED WITH A SHOTGUN

And Winchester rifle and two revolvers and at least one hundred rounds of ammunition. All sorts of rumors were rife upon the streets during the afternoon and evening, but until 6 o'clock no one knew to a certainty which direction after leaving the city the horsemen had taken. At that hour, however, a boy came in from Helms' ranch, who stated that he met the Earp party fifteen miles from town riding hard in the direction of the ranch. About one and a half miles behind the Earps was a company of cowboys.

FIFTEEN TO TWENTY COWBOYS.

All heavily armed riding furiously in pursuit with every probability in favor of their soon coming up with the foremost party. If the boys' statements are true, and there seems no reason to doubt them, a bloody combat will surely be the result. The cowboys, in addition to their well-known fighting proclivities are in this instance animated by a thirst for revenge and the Earp party is composed of desperate men who will

FIGHT TO THE DEATH.

And it is stated that they have all been sworn in as deputy United States Marshals in which case they will have the color of law under which to act. The ultimate destination of the Earp party yet remains unknown to the majority of our citizens. Some think they went out as a United States Marshal's posse comitatus, in search of lawless characters, while others are of the opinion they are making an attempt to leave the country; the latter class being in a large majority.

GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATES.

Notes of preparation for the next political campaign begin to reach us this soon in the season. It is somewhat early, it seems to us, but if the gentlemen cannot contain themselves, we presume, it best that they vent their feelings and announce their candidates, and see what it will advantage them by thus taking time by the fore-lock. Reflecting upon it, we half think early announcements may possibly be best as there is thereby given fuller time in which to dissect the aspirants. And should some of them find at the day of trial, that, like the man in the fable, they had taken too long a run and were too much out of wind to make the final jump, the nominating convention might be relieved and delegates freed from embarrassments by having some of the dead-weights out of the way, as they certainly will be.

From the little that has reached us we perceive nothing that calls forth the interests of our people. There has been no name mentioned that creates enthusiasm at the mere announcement, therefore we shall deem it best to feel the ground cautiously before venturing to let out for the race.

There are, however, some things we deem it proper and timely to say now, in connection with gubernatorial nomination, that those who are attempting to pull the wires may profit thereby for the general good, and one of those things is to remind our political friends that Los Angeles county wheeled into the Republican column in 1880, and that the efforts that were put forth to bring her in, secured also the Congressional man from the fourth district. And it is the intention of Republicans to hold all the ground gained in 1880, and they see no way in which to do it but by having candidates perfectly agreeable to the people. There is caution among our friends to which deference must be paid—they will insist upon having men of known worth and tried integrity placed before them for their suffrages. And more especially is this necessary, if, as intimated, the Democrats are to put into the field a man so popular as to sweep the decks of all opposing forces. A gentleman of the character and standing we mention, we have in the person of Lieut. Gov. John Mansfield, and it is not asking of our political friends in other portions of the State too much for them to consider him a probable candidate. And I think I speak the voice of our people in saying that unless our friends can bring forward a better man, Southern California will insist upon his nomination, if he can be prevailed upon to enter the lists.

It is a curious fact that out of the large Jewish population of this county it is one of the rarest occurrences to find one of that faith figuring in our courts, either in criminal or civil cases, but more especially in the criminal branches. The population of that class to the others who make up our Court calendars, can scarcely be as one to ten. The fact is a most remarkable one, and characterizes this people as one of the most law-abiding of the land. A people's religion has a great influence upon the morals of its individual members, and the more religious a people or nation in the same proportion with the ratio of crime be decreased. There is no nation or class of people more faithful in the discharge of religious duties than are the Jews, and to this cause do we attribute, principally, the freedom from crime which characterizes them. The fact that their religion does not observe the first day of the week, Sunday as their day of rest and worship must not be laid to their charge as breaking the laws with criminal intent, for such is not the case. There are among them many who favor and observe Sunday as a day of rest because the statutes and custom has fixed upon that day, and without a thought of compulsion, but simply as law-abiding citizens they conform to the custom. It is not right that they should be charged with law-breaking because they are Jews.

WILMINGTON harbor, as will be seen from our dispatches, is attracting some attention in official circles, having been made a port, where goods may be received in bond for Mexico. Small favors, etc., larger ones are coming.

The Treasury Department disbursed this month $10,935,000 for interest, and $3,485,000 in redemption of bonds.

WOMAN VS. MAN.

Madame Du Free in the Field for Blood.

The articles of agreement were signed last evening for a pedestrian contest between Madame Du Free, a professional pedestrian of the Eastern States, and two amateurs of this city—Charles Fish, the champion five days pedestrian of Southern California, and W. H. Wiseman, who is also well known. The agreement says the tournament is to last one hundred hours, Madame Du Free to walk more miles in that time than the entire distance covered by the gentlemen, the men to divide the whole time and each walk fifty hours each. Madame Du Free is a spare built lady, thirty-eight years of age, and weighs one hundred and twenty pounds, and is the mother of two children, a son and daughter, who accompany her. She is a modest, intelligent lady, and makes friends wherever she goes. A few years ago she was an invalid, but now she is in fine health and performs feats of endurance that would astonish her friends who knew her in days gone by. She owes her good health and unconquerable strength, she says, to vigorous physical exercise. Her object, besides the one of taking in coin at the door, is to show what discipline and a strong will can accomplish for even a weak woman. The match will begin next Friday evening, January 27th, at eight o'clock, in the Horticultural Pavilion. It is believed that this will be the most interesting match that has ever taken place in Los Angeles.

MUSICAL MATTERS.

A Musical Convention Wanted—Professor H. S. Perkins.

The Santa Barbara Press says that H. S. Perkins the distinguished musical composer and director of Chicago will visit California during February to conduct musical conventions. Professor Perkins is one of the ablest musical conductors in the country and his fame is extending year by year. With the great amount of musical ability and talent of which Los Angeles is possessed it should be an easy matter to arrange for a musical convention in this city. It will be a success if some one will take hold and arrange the preliminaries and secure the services of Prof. Perkins. He never conducts a failure, and his seasons begin early in the fall and continue late in the spring. These conventions are and have been very popular in the East for ten or twelve years past, and are attended with great good, creating an interest in musical matters and tending greatly to elevate their standard. The writer well remembers when the annual musical convention was looked forward to with greater anticipation than was even the Christmas holidays, and the enjoyment was much greater. If one or more energetic persons will take hold of the matter it can be accomplished.

Thirty Dollars or Nothing.

Having heard of the great demand for hay in town, an old granger living a little way out raked up all his old stubble, with considerable worthless refuse thrown in, and brought a wagon load of it into the city yesterday to sell. After driving about the streets a while he selected Main street, near Second, as his market place, standing there patiently hour after hour during the rainfall, expecting to sell the hay (?) for thirty dollars per ton, refusing to take a cent less. Finally, when the worthless mass had become thoroughly saturated with the rain, he moved off toward home amid the jeers and laughter of the bystanders.

Too Much Wet.

Captain Cuddy gathered in a drunk yesterday named T. Kelly. Tom—not the Captain—got wet in the rain on the outside and was not happy until he struck "good old whiskey." He then wet the inner man and went to the lock-up.

THE BEAUTIFUL RAIN.

BY J. A. C. KASS.
O the rain, the beautiful rain,
Falling so gently on foothill and plain;
Lulling the fear of the granger to sleep
And cheering the heart of the owner of sheep.

Long hast thou tarried in regions unknown
And alighted the grain which the granger has sown,
Causing the sheep man to leave a deep sigh
When the newsmonger muttered, "the weather is dry."

Many a heart hast thou tardiness made,
And spoiled many a good real estate agent's trade—
Disgraced the tourist who came here to find
Our much vaunted climate largely made up of wind.

But now thou hast come again, beautiful rain,
Falling so gently on foothill and plain,
We heartily welcome thy life-giving shower,
And hope for a week you'll not let up on our hour.

Centennial Gallery.

Dr. Walter Lindley's card appears in our "New To-day." He has built up a practice second to none in the city during his seven year's residence here, the reward of his ability and fidelity.
